environment and to develop an awareness and appreciation of different cultural values. Students' work is assessed through a mixture of written assignments, case study reports, e-portfolios, presentations and examinations. Upon graduation, students can progress to employment in a professional area. This degree also helps those individuals already working in the business sector to gain promotion and become more confident with the decisions they make in the work place. Many also enter programmes of further study for advanced professional qualifications or postgraduate courses such as the Master of Business Administration.

Course Aims

The overall aim of the BA (Hons) Business and Management (Law) programme is to equip students with the knowledge, skills and experience that will enable them to be 'professionally ready' on graduation. The programme provides broad coverage of the key functions of business, leadership and management with the context of the legal environment. It also enables students to appreciate the importance of the social, political, ethical, technological, environmental and global contexts in which organisations operate. The programme also provides opportunities for you to develop creativity, communication, problem solving, time management and decision making abilities through a range of skills and knowledge relevant to modern business and professional contexts. This is partly facilitated through the opportunities provided to investigate current issues within the business and professional environments.

This overall aim embraces a number of distinct aims:

- To provide students with a systematic understanding of key aspects of business and management through a coherent and integrated programme of study.
- To develop conceptual understanding that enables students to devise and sustain arguments, use established techniques of analysis to solve problems and describe and comment on current research in business management.
- To prepare students for a career in business and/or management by developing personal and professional skills that will support communication, group interaction, information finding, analysis and problem solving during the period of study and future career development.
- To provide students with a valuable and positive learning experience in your academic studies.
