appreciation of the theories, practices and preferences which shape policy on such things as government spending, taxation and banking policy.

To allow students to understand and – in the fullness of time – to intervene usefully and purposefully in the debates which structure public policy, political decision-making and business strategy this course treats Economics, Banking and Finance social scientifically. The course therefore combines the study of microeconomics and macroeconomics with the analysis of ethics, entrepreneurship, banking and finance and business strategy.

In the study of Economics, Banking and Finance therefore we use the tools of social scientific inquiry to examine the complex, contested and often controversial field that is too easily reduced to “EBF”. Thus we consider the key factors – employment, taxation, public spending, baking policy and financial regulation that in so many ways shape our lives and the fortunes of our communities.

The additional sandwich year at the end of Level 5 enables students to engage in a full year professional placement (either in the UK or overseas). The professional placement provides a valuable opportunity for students to put theory into real-life practice, enhancing their skills and understanding of the business environment and expanding their professional networks.

Course Aims

- To provide students with a critical understanding of the key principles of economics, banking and finance shaped by a need to ensure their appropriate application.

- To generate an appreciation of the economic and welfare dimensions of wider social, political, legal and environmental issues.

- To ensure a firm foundation of knowledge about the workings of national and global economies and the financial services industry.

- To foster the development of relevant skills, including the usage of appropriate tools of analysis to support business decision-making in a range of settings.

- To develop the necessary analytical skills and simplifying frameworks for the solution of specific theoretical and applied problems in economics, banking and finance at both national and global levels.

- To provide students with an ability to interpret real world economic developments, events and organisations and critically assess the influences which these have in the arena of banking and finance.

- To provide students with a valuable and positive learning experience in their academic studies from which students can proceed to further studies in economics, banking and/or finance and to multi-disciplinary areas.
Course Learning Outcomes

The following statements define what students graduating from the BA (Hons) Economics, Banking and Finance (with Professional Placement) course will have been judged to have demonstrated in order to achieve the award. These statements, known as learning outcomes, have been formally approved as aligned with the generic qualification descriptor for level 6 awards as set out by the UK Quality Assurance Agency (QAA)⁶.

Awards
On successful completion of the course, students will be awarded a BA (Hons) Economics, Banking and Finance (with Professional Placement).

Course Delivery
The course is delivered at Ipswich. Students studying full-time on BA (Hons) Economics, Banking and Finance (with Professional Placement) are likely to have approximately 10 contact hours per week for level 4, 9 contact hours for level 5 and 6 contact hours for level 6. The contact hours will be a mix of lecture, seminar and practical activity. Students will normally be expected to undertake 30 hours of independent study in an average week, but should be prepared for this to vary based on assignment deadlines and class exercises. This will often include making use of online resources (lectures, reading and activities) that are prescribed by the tutor running the module.

For the sandwich year involving a full year of professional practice, students are expected to engage in 1090 hours of professional practice (including 30 weeks of supervised and relevant work experience), 10 hours of tutorials and online support and 100 hours of independent study.

Course Assessment
A variety of assessments will be used on the course to enable students to experience and adapt to different assessment styles. The assessment methods used will be appropriate to assess each module’s intended learning outcomes. Assessment on the course overall will be approximately 75% coursework (including essays, reports, presentations, group work, reflective learning journals and research projects) and 25% examinations. Professional placements will be assessed by 100% coursework.

Course Team
The academic staff delivering this course are drawn from a team that includes teaching specialists and current practitioners. All staff are qualified in their subjects with their own specialist knowledge to contribute.
