This definitive record sets out the essential features and characteristics of the FdA Fashion and Textiles course. The information provided is accurate for students entering level 4 in the 2018-19 academic year.⁵

Course Summary

The Foundation Degree in Fashion and Textiles was designed in response to local requirements; progression for level 3 students who do not want to move away from the local area, students who want to continue their studies at levels 4 and 5 locally but aim to move away at level 6 and mature students who cannot move away to study due to family, care or work commitments. The course provides internal progression for the level 3 students at East Coast College (Great Yarmouth) as well as attracting applicants from local sixth form centres, colleges and international students. The programme is also intended as a professional development opportunity for those who already work in industry who may not have had the opportunity to gain a qualification or further their education.

DEFINITIVE COURSE RECORD

The foundation degree in fashion and textiles encourages students to be innovative and creative whilst gaining skills and experience of a wide variety of processes relevant to fashion and textiles for both working within the industries or as a freelance practitioner. The first year of the course lays the foundation of skills in fashion design, pattern construction, garment manufacture, printed and constructed textiles, drawing and CAD. The second year of the course allows the student to develop research skills which, along with continued visual communication studies, provide the basis for the major project module which gives students the opportunity to choose a specialist fashion or textiles pathway, developing both creativity and technical expertise.

Work experience and live projects are a key part of the course and students are expected to take an active part in these over both years of the course. Students have access to specialist equipment, tutors and visiting lecturers, and have a dedicated HE Arts Study Room. The Arts IT Suite has current Adobe software and photography studios and equipment are available to the students as well. One to one support is available through regular module tutorials and personal tutorials. Students have the opportunity to visit galleries, exhibitions and trade shows.

On completion of the foundation degree in fashion and textiles students have the opportunity to progress on to the 1 year BA Arts Practice Top Up course at University of Suffolk at East Coast College (Great Yarmouth) to gain a full BA Honours Degree or to seek employment or self-employment within the fashion and textiles industries.

Course Aims

- Provide a programme appropriate to degree level study in fashion and textiles.
- Equip students with the knowledge, understanding and skills required for success in current or future employment/self-employment in fashion, textiles, and related areas.
- Provide a preparation for postgraduate study in fashion, textiles, and related subject areas.
- Equip students to meet changing circumstances, whether they arise from a shift in employment, promotion to management roles or changes in professional practice or technological advances.
