Programme Summary

This is a general management programme designed for those in, or aspiring to, senior management positions or those looking for conversion from specialist fields to that of general management. It is also intended for those with entrepreneurial objectives. The MBA prepares participants for early entry into positions holding significant general management responsibilities, whilst developing a thorough understanding of the principal functional areas of management.

The programme team recognises the importance of keeping a management programme at the cutting edge of learning in a rapidly changing business environment and is committed to that goal.

Our particular programme is also built around five key framing objectives: plurality, advocacy, enterprise, responsibility and application.

¹ For an explanation of the levels of higher education study, see the QAA Frameworks for Higher Education Qualifications of UK Degree-Awarding Bodies \(2014\)

² All academic credit awarded as a result of study at the University adheres to the Higher education credit framework for England.

³ Where the course is delivered both full-time and part-time, the standard length of course is provided for the full-time mode of attendance only. The length of the part-time course is variable and dependent upon the intensity of study. Further information about mode of study and maximum registration periods can be found in the Framework and Regulations for Taught Postgraduate Awards.

DEFINITIVE COURSE RECORD

Plurality

Our MBA programme attracts students from all around the world. As business increasingly transcends national boundaries, a knowledge of various business cultures and management methodologies is essential. You are urged to recognise multiple perspectives, and learn from one another's cultural experience. Equally, our MBA programme attracts students from a wide range of industries spanning the private, public and voluntary sectors. This brings further experiential diversity to the programme.

Advocacy

Generally, the approach to management we seek to cultivate in our students is one of diplomacy, support and enablement, rather than top-down command-and-control. This resonates with contemporary management theory, and better reflects the dynamics of organizational life.

Enterprise

Irrespective of whether you come from an entrepreneurial or managerial background, the skills associated with enterprise are essential. Notably, we seek to equip our students with an ability to think creatively and with an overriding concern for innovation. To this end, you are very much encouraged to take advantage of the resources associated with our Innovation Centre while studying at Suffolk.

Responsibility

Managerial influence rightly raises questions of responsibility. The ethics of business – and its practice – underpins each of our modules.

Application

The Suffolk MBA distinguishes itself from others in the marketplace through its emphasis on application. Students are encouraged from the outset to put into practice what they learn in the classroom in their own place of work. Additionally, we provide multiple opportunities for live consultancy experience throughout the programme. You are very much encouraged to take advantage of these opportunities; not only will they enhance your management skills, but upon graduation they will help distinguish you in a competitive marketplace.

Programme Aims

The overall aim of the MBA is to develop the analytical and strategic management skills of the students using concepts derived from a wide range of academic disciplines thus enabling them to respond creatively and effectively to the challenges of the global business environment.

This overall aim embraces a number of distinct and individual aims.

- To provide a coherent and integrated programme of study that will satisfy the needs of students and organizations operating within increasingly complex, dynamic and diverse external environments.
- To develop students' intellectual ability; based on analysis, synthesis and reflection, to analyse complex and changing environments.
- To enable students, in terms of personal efficacy, to plan, develop and implement responses to changing environments using an interdisciplinary approach to management.
- To enable students to identify sources of sustainable strategic advantage for an organization but also to be more self-confident in managing and dealing with strategic level issues.

DEFINITIVE COURSE RECORD

- To provide an opportunity for experienced specialists to broaden the range of management responsibilities they can undertake with confidence.

Programme Learning Outcomes

By the end of the MBA programme participants are expected to demonstrate the following:

1. A systematic, critically-informed understanding of organizations and how they are managed.
2. The ability to apply relevant knowledge to dealing with complex situations while simultaneously exercising a sensitivity to extant relationships, cultural considerations and formal procedures elsewhere in the business or organization.
3. The awareness and ability to both marshal and manage the implications of ethical dilemmas and work proactively with others to formulate appropriate solutions to these dilemmas.
4. A critical awareness of both current and prospective issues in business and management informed by leading edge research and practice in the field.
5. An understanding of appropriate techniques to allow thorough investigation of relevant business and management issues.
6. A practical understanding of how both established and evolving techniques of research and enquiry are used to generate relevant knowledge as well as an understanding of how that knowledge may be applied creatively.
7. Increased critical awareness and the ability to undertake analysis of complex, incomplete or contradictory areas of knowledge and communicating the outcome effectively.
8. The ability to conduct research into business and management issues that requires familiarity with a range of relevant data in order to inform the learning process, as well as a level of conceptual understanding to critically evaluate published research in order to identify new or revised approaches to practice.
9. The ability to navigate the challenges of working under pressure in a group as either member or leader, where appropriate.
10. The ability to communicate complex data effectively, both orally and in writing, and to demonstrate professionalism and proficiency in the use of relevant media.

Programme Design

The design of this course has been guided by the following QAA Benchmark:

- Business and Management (2015)

Programme Structure

The MBA comprises modules at level 7.

Module Specifications for each of these modules are included within the course handbook, available to students on-line at the beginning of each academic year.

Awards

The full MBA award requires students to successfully complete 180 credits. However, upon the successful completion of 60 credits, students will be eligible for a Postgraduate Certificate of Management exit award. Upon the successful completion of 120 credits, students will be eligible for a Postgraduate Diploma of Management exit award.

Course Delivery

The course is delivered at Ipswich. Students studying full-time on the MBA are likely to have approximately 12 contact hours per week. The contact hours will be a mix of lectures, seminars, and practical activities.

Full-time students will normally be expected to undertake 24 hours of independent study in an average week, but should be prepared for this to vary based on assignment deadlines and class exercises. For those students who opt to study the Consultancy Management with International Business module, this includes a week’s consultancy experience overseas.

Course Assessment

A variety of assessments will be used on the course to enable students to experience and adapt to different assessment styles. The assessment methods used will be appropriate to assess each module’s intended learning outcomes. Assessment on the course overall will be 100% coursework (including essays, reports, presentations, group work, reflective learning journals and research projects).

Course Team

The academic staff delivering this course are drawn from a team that includes teaching specialists and current practitioners. All staff are qualified in their subjects with their own specialist knowledge to contribute.
