Course Summary

Heritage Management is about how we can explore, protect, conserve and interpret the past to give it a sustainable future. Taught by academic drawn from business, management, archaeology and history, and with extensive input from heritage professionals, our emphasis is on developing an understanding of the many facets of heritage coupled to the knowledge, skills and experience of leadership, management and business necessary to become an effective heritage manager.

Course Aims

- An innovative, dynamic and flexible programme that critically considers the impact of social, economic and environmental pressures on heritage and museums and how these may change the future of organisations and the context within which they operate
- The advanced study of heritage organisations, their management and the changing external context in which they operate
